TOGETHER OUTBACK HEARING THE OUTBACK VOICES IN HEALTHCARE

20 & 21 JUNE 2024
ALICE SPRINGS CONVENTION CENTRE

The CICM STP Rural Conference: Together Outback: Hearing the Outback Voices in Healthcare is an essential conference addressing the challenges of critical care in rural and remote Australia. Leading ICU professionals have gathered to highlight the need for us to adapt to the unique environmental and resource constraints, driving innovation and advocacy for robust critical care.

We're honoured to have an exclusive aboriginal painting as our rural conference logo.

Artist: Curtis Haines

Country & Language:
Anmatyerr Town or Community:
Ti Tree is a small town 200km north of Alice Springs, surrounding 7 small communities.

The conference features respected doctors and healthcare professionals who explore the challenges faced in rural and remote Australia, especially by Indigenous communities. It offers a platform for discussion on innovative approaches that address healthcare inequities in these communities.

Renowned journalist and Indigenous affairs expert, Stan Grant will share his insights on healthcare disparities, urging critical thinking about its impact on First Nation communities.
